HACCP & FOOD HANDLING ENVIRONMENTS

Hazard Analysis Critical Control Points (HACCP) is a comprehensive program to identify and document the control of food processing areas where contamination can occur. The U.S. Department of Agriculture mandates a HACCP program for all U.S. food processing plants.

A color-coded brush system to help prevent cross-contamination is one part of a HACCP program. Cross-contamination occurs when tools are used for multiple tasks with incompatible food items. For example, using a brush or cutting board for raw meat, then using the same brush or cutting board for cooked meat would contaminate the cooked meat. Malish provides products in five colors (yellow, green, blue, red and white) allowing you to design a brush program to fit your operation.

While food processing plants are subject to the HACCP mandate, restaurants, groceries and delis are currently excluded. However, with over 80 million cases of food poisoning each year in the U.S., many of which can be traced to restaurants, implementing a HACCP program is a wise decision on the part of these establishments. Malish makes it easy to provide the tools needed to set up a successful HACCP program.

SEVEN BASIC PRINCIPLES OF HACCP

1. Conduct a Hazard Analysis.
2. Determine the Critical Control Points (CCPs).
3. Establish Critical Limits.
4. Devise a System to Monitor Control of CCPs.
5. Take a Corrective Action for Out-of-Control CCPs.
6. Verify the System.
7. Establish Documentation.

Grill Brush Training Guide

Purpose

Grill brushes are used on char-broilers to remove carbon created by food particles sticking to the grill. It is that carbon build-up that spoils the taste of food!

When to Use

Use a grill brush after each time food is cooked on the grill.
A wash down of the grill might be needed on a weekly to monthly basis to remove any heavy build-up.

How to Use

Using both hands on the handle, place the brush flat on the grill and push back and forth.

Brush Care and Cleaning

Never rinse or submerge your brush in water. Water warps the wooden block and warping loosens the bristles.

For longevity, keep your brush away from heat and water when not in use.
Never leave your brush resting on a hot grill.

To clean, simply shake the particles of food off by hitting the brush block on a hard surface. You may also rub a damp cloth over the bristles and shake the particles off.

Replacement Recommendation

It is time to replace a brush if the bristles flatten, loosen, do not clean properly, or the block becomes curved.

Frequent replacement of your grill brush will provide optimum performance, thereby assuring that your grill is always clean and safe to use.

Grilling Safety Tips

1. Always use the correct brush for the job. A wire scratch brush used for removing paint or rust is NOT a grill cleaning brush.
2. Carefully inspect your grill cleaning brush for loose or damaged bristles. If you find any bristles that are loose, severely bent or broken, replace your grill brush.
3. Visually inspect your grill each time before you place food on the grates to be certain there are no bristles or other foreign matter stuck to the grill.
4. When cleaning your grill, make certain that no residue is left on the grill before you begin cooking.
5. Never rinse or submerge your brush in water.
6. Never leave your brush resting on a hot grill.
7. To clean, simply shake the particles of food off by hitting the brush block on a hard surface. You may also rub a damp cloth over the bristles and shake the particles off.

Maintain the intended taste of your food with our most aggressive line of Flat Wire grill brushes. Having a clean grill that is free of grease or leftover food particles always results in improved taste. A clean grill also cuts down on excess smoke. Chisel-like flat wire steel and heavy-duty stainless steel metal scrapers allow for quick and easy removal of heavy carbon deposits, rust, and burned-on food build-up. Made in the USA.
